

5	Case Study: The Monitoring and Control System of a Satellite Ground Control Station	112
5.1	General Features of the DFS/TV-SAT Satellite Systems and of the Ground Control Station in Usingen	112
5.2	The Ground Station Design and Operations	115
5.3	Control Operations.....	124
5.4	The User Interface.....	127
5.5	Evaluation.....	136
5.6	Conclusions	144
6	Conclusions	146
A1	Guidelines and Standards for the User Interface.....	149
A2	Pathology.....	153
A2.1	Growing Ground for Nonsense.....	153
A2.2	A "New Perspective" on Human-Computer Interaction	155
A2.3	The OSI Communication Model, Revised	159
A2.4	There is Nothing Wrong with Layered Models	163
A2.5	Conclusions.....	166
	Bibliography.....	167

Table of Contents

Table of Contents.....	5
Preface.....	7
1 Introduction.....	11
1.1 The Need for a New Approach to Human-Computer Interaction	11
1.2 The User Interface for Process Control.....	14
1.3 Goals and Results of this Thesis.....	18
1.4 In Search of an Approach.....	20
1.5 Organization of the Thesis	22
2 User-related Issues in Human-Computer Interaction	23
2.1 A Model for Human Behaviour.....	23
2.2 Perception and the Dual-Memory Theory	27
2.3 Errors and Error Management.....	32
2.4 Effects of Context, Expectations, and Motivation	35
2.5 Mental Models.....	39
2.6 Experimental Results about Mental Models.....	42
2.7 Mental Models and Training.....	48
2.8 Conclusions	52
3 The Digital Computer as a Tool to Deal with Complexity	54
3.1 Process Control as a Complexity Problem.....	54
3.2 The Concept of Complexity	56
3.3 Coping with Complexity	62
3.4 Computer Control Systems as a Tool to Deal with Complexity	65
3.5 Task Analysis.....	72
3.6 Examples of User Interface Mismatch	74
3.7 What Should We Expect from Process Control Computers?.....	81
3.8 Conclusions	86
4 Guidelines for the Practical Realization of the User Interface.....	87
4.1 General Design Principles.....	87
4.2 Use of Language in the User Interface.....	91
4.3 Screen Layout Design.....	93
4.3.1 Process representation.....	93
4.3.2 Coding	96
4.3.3 Screen representation and layouting.....	99
4.3.4 Representation complexity	100
4.4 Operator Commands.....	103
4.5 Menus.....	106
4.6 Prototyping and Evaluation	107
4.7 Conclusions	111
